

Monday 30 November 2015

Time: 13:15 - 14:45

UN Climate Change Conference, Paris, France

Framework Convention on Climate Change

The JISC side event

A panel hosted by the Joint Implementation Supervisory Committee on “How a crediting mechanism can assist countries in their INDCs”

Description:

Voices for the use of market mechanisms are becoming louder coming from both governments and private sector. More than 70 Parties expressed their desire to use mechanisms in their INDCs. The need for incentivizing action by non-state actors is also becoming more prominent. The Paris agreement would therefore be expected to contain provisions for some kind of collaboration mechanism and measures to encourage the private sector and to enable parties achieving their INDCs goals. This side event will highlight the reasons for the need for such provisions. It will also discuss the different environments in which a mechanism can operate, its main key features, as well as its different potential uses. Experience and lessons learnt from JI mechanism will be also shared.

Agenda:

Opening remarks

Ms. Julia Justo Soto, JISC chair

Moderator: Mr. Benoît Leguet, Managing Director of I4CE – Institute for Climate Economics

Enhancing mitigation and climate finance through mechanisms

Mr. Daniel Rossetto, Managing Director, Climate Mundial

Enabling environments for effective national implementation of mechanisms

Mr. Roland Geres, CEO FutureCamp

Lessons from the experience with the design and operation of JI

Mr. Benoît Leguet, Managing Director at I4CE – Institute for Climate Economics

Potential for the use of mechanisms across the expected range of INDC types

Mr. Marcelo Rocha, Adviser to climate change to the Brazilian delegation

Discussions and Q&A

